

Grandpa Builds An Airplane

"Oh The Planes You Can Build! - A Sonex Review" In the style of Dr.
Seuss

On the wings you can weld! Oh the dreams you can fly

With a Sonex below you and blue in the sky!

It's shiny, it's tiny, it zips with a zing,

It's a build-it-yourself, do-it-all flying thing!

You'll rivet and polish, you'll torque and you'll test,

You'll argue which engine is really the best.

A Jabiru? AeroVee? Turbo, perhaps?

Just follow the plans and avoid all mishaps!

The Sonex is sprightly, its darts and it climbs,

It sips fuel so gently you'll save dimes and times.

*It hums like a bumblebee - buzz, whir,
and whoosh!*

Then lands like a whisper, with barely a shush.

It's not for the sluggish or ones who snooze slow,

For Sonexes sparkle wherever they go!

They're nimble, the're frisky, they roll with delight.

They'll turn your dull day to a loop-de-loop flight!

But heed this small warning, you builder, take care;

You'll find metal filings in all of your hair!

*For hours and evenings, and weekends
you'll spend,*

Till "project" turns "plane" and you shout "It's The End!"

Then off you will soar in your Sonex so sleek,

To Oshkosh or heaven or just down the creek.

Oh builder, oh flyer, your grin says it all.

The Sonex may be small, but it's big on the AWE!
